Art Unit: 1714

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 1-9 and 11-13 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Zenhausern et al (US 4,102,639) in view of Reil (US 2002/0002225 A1).

Zenhausern et al teach amine salts of anthraquinone and their use in polymers such as polyamide in abstract and table 1 and col. 1, lines 6-14 and col. 5, lines 3-27. Said table 1 shows various colors, and example 13 shows blue color. The red dyes of examples 3 and 5-11 and yellow dyes of examples 4, 14, 16 and 17 meet the instant red and yellow monoazo complex dyes of claim 6, respectively.

The instant invention further recites black colorant over Zenhausern et al. However, the use of mixtures of organic dyes having different colors in obtaining a black color is well known as taught by Reil, [0012]- [0019].

It would have been obvious to one skilled in the art at time of invention to utilize a mixture of different coloring dyes in Zenhausern et al since the use of mixtures of organic dyes having different colors in obtaining a black color is well known in the art as taught by Reil, and the utilization of a small amount of said mixtures of dyes would yield a laser transmitting property and transparent articles since the same dyes are used.

The above rejection is maintained with following response.

The intended use, laser welding, has no probative value and the recited "comprising" permits the presence of solvents.

Claim 10 is objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims since the laser welded article is neither taught or suggested by the art of record.

THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
